
Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by Kristy - 2009/03/09 14:35

Hi my name is Kristy I was diagnosed with CML just under a year ago when i was diagnosed i was 18 im now 19, I was just wondering if there is anyone around my age who would be willing to have a chat. Thanks Kristy :)

=====

Re:Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by SwanValleySue - 2009/04/13 17:09

Hi Kristy

There are a number of young women on Talk Blood Cancer in the CML Forum who are a little older (early 20's) Also there is a list of other support and chat group links (world wide) where young people have CML

If you wish - ask the question in the TBC group and in the meantime I will ask on other boards for you

Do not hesitate to contact me personally Kristy

Cheers
Sue

=====

Re:Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by SwanValleySue - 2009/04/14 08:09

Kristy

I have found a Canadian young adult the same age as you and diagnosed a few months ago

Would you like to converse with her

Please advise

Sue

=====

Re:Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by Social - 2009/04/14 12:04

Hi Kristy, My husband was diagnosed when he was 28, I am younger than him and we have three kids.

=====

Re:Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by Kristy - 2009/04/14 13:36

hi Sue thank u for the reply i would love to speak with the girl from Canada who is around my age i will give u my email address and feel free to give it to this girl my email address is chubzygal@hotmail.com once again thank u so much

Kristy :)

=====

Re:Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by Kristy - 2009/04/14 13:38

hi there thank u for the reply feel free to email me to talk about the Cancer my email address is chubzygal@hotmail.com i look forward to hear from u

Kristy :)

=====

Re:Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by dana - 2009/05/11 11:17

hi i was diagnosed about 7 weeks ago with cml i was 18 at the time of diagnoses and 22 weeks pregnant its not a very nice thing for any person to go through no matter what age young or old.

=====

Re:Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by SwanValleySue - 2009/05/11 11:28

Hi Dana

Congratulations on being a Mum

I am friends with another young woman who was diagnosed when she was pregnant and now is the MUM of a healthy little girl who is just 10 months old. A number of guys have also successfully conceived children and one Indian woman it has been published has had twins.

What State are you in - if in Perth - we can get together

Also if you have a look at the Talkbloodcancer Forum there is heaps of info of CML and other support groups with many young woman having bubs successfully with CML. Being pregnant with CML will be at times perhaps a little tricky with your management but keep as well as you are able.

What drug have you been put on - interferon during the pregnancy or some other - or none at all.

No doubt you will go thru quite abit - my suggestion is to get as much info as possible

If you would like to forward me by private email - I will forward to other Mum who I can speak for her would only be too happy to speak with you by email or phone about her successful pregnancy with hints and her journey with CML.

21st May there is a CML Telephone Conference - register thru Talkbloodcancer at the Leuk Foundation

Sue

=====

Re:Wanting to talk to someone with CML

Posted by Kristy - 2009/05/11 13:10

Hi Dana,

Its a very big shock to life getting diagnosed with cancer and it would of been an even bigger shock to u getting diagnosed whilst pregnant.

I would love to chat to u more about it all so here is my email address its chubzygal@hotmail.com feel free to email me anytime.

Hope to hear from u soon

Kristy xo :)

=====

Dana

Posted by SwanValleySue - 2009/05/11 19:00

Afternoon Dani

I have spoken to Shelley who also was diagnosed while pregnant

Shelley is very approachable is would love to chat and give you suggestions to help both with your CML condition while pregnant

I have informed the Talkbloodcancer Forum of your diagnosis so go there for lots of help and advise

Forward me your details and I will arrange for Shelley to contact you

Sue

=====