

---

Tip for CT scans

Posted by Hematite - 2008/08/29 18:25

---

I saw your tips for hospital & wanted to add something. This might sound dumb but very practical for the girls!

When you have a CT scan or chest xray, wear a sports bra without any underire. It means you don't have to take off everything and put one of the gross gowns on. The scan can apparently go through any material just not metal.

Hematite

ps feedback - i like this website, its the only place i've found which has information relevant to my situation :cheer: the other websites are so medical.

=====